

HELPING YOUR CHILD STUDY BETTER

By initiating few steps, you as the parent can easily get involved in your child's education, thereby bridging the gap between home and school and ensuring your child's success in learning and long run.

- ✚ On the first day check the following pointers before sending the child to the school:
 - ✓ Complete school uniform
 - ✓ Name and class mentioned on books and copies
 - ✓ Numbers marked on each page of the school copy
 - ✓ First page of school diary filled
 - ✓ School bag packed as per the timetable
 - ✓ Ensure that the child is carrying healthy food, water bottle, handkerchief, paper soap etc

- ✚ Understand your child's day-to-day progress by checking their school work, and noting down the grades/ any comments made by the teacher. Sign the homework if your child's school requires you to do so.
- ✚ Send all the necessary materials for any class activity/ Project.
- ✚ Listen carefully to the teacher's feedback regarding your child's work and plan with the teacher what could be done to improve your child's performance.
- ✚ Keep a check on the neatness of the written presentation as well as maintenance of the notebooks.
- ✚ Keep track on school's diary, school 's websites to get information regarding school activities or ask questions from teachers and school personnel regarding the same.
- ✚ Check report cards carefully for individual subject's grades, attendance and conduct. Ask the teacher or school counselor for other relevant information about your child's performance, such as test scores and observations of the concerned teachers.

- ✚ Attend parent-teacher meetings scheduled during the year.
- ✚ Encourage your child for reading practice at home as it would improve the performance of child.
